

Early Learning Music

Tuesdays, September 3, 10, 17 and 24
10:00 – 10:45 AM

Early Learning Music supports and fosters healthy parent-child relationship. Parents and young children learn through play and experimentation and by watching. Setting an example as an enthusiastic participator in music activities is the best thing any parent or caregiver can do to help set a child on the road to a lifelong love of music. Many people learn language by learning the songs of the language.

Early Learning Music Instructor : Barb Ruddell

Barb Ruddell has been sharing music with families for more than 25 years. The music she shares excites parents and children alike. Her music involves not only learning and singing a wide variety of styles but her classes also include movement and shared experiences.

"Barb is an exceptional instructor and injects fun and variety into every class. This class provided a wonderful opportunity to foster community and was a fantastic learning experience for my child" - Participant
